Work 1 : Read the story about « Meera the Lazy Indian girl» and Answer the question

Once upon a time, there was an Indian girl called Meera. She was very lazy. Her mother was very poor. She asked Meera to spin thread from cotton so that she could sell it in the market. But lazy Meera never wanted to do any work. One day, Meera's mother got very angry and scolded her. Meera started crying. Just then, the queen of the kingdom was passing by their house. She heard someone crying so she came inside to see what had happened. When she saw Meera crying, she asked Meera's mother why the girl was crying. Meera's mother did not want to tell the queen the real reason. So she made up a lie and said, "Your highness, this girl always wants to keep spinning thread. But I am too poor to afford so much cotton." The queen said, "I have a lot of cotton that needs to be spun. I will take your daughter with me."

The queen took Meera with her to her palace and showed her three rooms full of cotton. She said, "You are a nice girl, Meera. If you spin all this cotton into thread, I will get you married to my son, the prince." Then, the queen left Meera with the cotton and went away. Meera was very happy because she wanted to married the handsome prince so she stopped being lazy and did the work.
